EVERYONE CAN SPELL

This pamphlet has been prepared by the members of the English Department for use in the English classes of the Secondary Schools of Ann Arbor, grades 7 to 12 inclusive. It consists of a list of 180 words most often misspelled at all levels and graded lists to be studied after the ungraded list has been mastered.

Suggestions to the Pupil

If you have trouble with a word, study it until you can see it in your "mind's eye." Study the relation between the spelling and the pronunciation. Look for the word in the dictionary to see how it is divided into syllables. Say it aloud as it is pronounced in the dictionary. Copy the word several times as you see it spelled in the book. Then, covering up what you have written, write it again as you see it in your "mind's eye."

Some Common Spelling Rules

1. Change a final y to i before adding er, es, or ed, when the y follows a consonant. Examples: story, stories; lovely, lovelier; dry, dried.
2. Drop a final silent e before adding a suffix beginning with a vowel. Examples: come, coming; use, usage; force, forcible.
3. Double a final consonant before a suffix beginning with a vowel
 - (a) when the word has one syllable and the final consonant is preceded by a single vowel, or
 - (b) when the word is accented on the last syllable and the final consonant is preceded by a single vowel.Examples: stop, stopped; begin, beginning.
4. When words contain ei or ie (pronounced ee as in meet), i usually comes before e except after c. Examples: believe, achieve, receive.
5. If an adjective ends in l preceded by a vowel, add ly to form the corresponding adverb; but if the adjective ends in two l's simply add y. Examples: final, finally; full, fully.
